Golf Club Network offers the latest video marketing through partnership with Visual Golf

Telford, 18th March 2010 - Golf Club Network, the number one provider of golf club websites and email marketing solutions, is now working with Visual Golf, the leading video production company for the golf industry, as their preferred supplier of video content.

Golf Club Network is endorsed by the English Golf Union (EGU) and Golf Union of Wales (GUW) and already works with over 150 golf clubs across the UK, providing cost-effective online website solutions which deliver golf clubs' online objectives and build revenues. Golf Club Network websites are built using the latest technologies and being able to add video content is just one of the many features their websites can offer clubs.

Kate Davies, Marketing Manager at Golf Club Network said: "Online video marketing is a rapidly growing medium and predictions show that this is set to continue over the coming years. As golf is such a visual product we can see the clear benefits of offering our existing and future clubs access to a company who specialise in high quality video production.

"Visual Golf stands alone in terms of golf video production experience and expertise, so they were the number one choice for us."

Tim Stansbury, Managing Director of Visual Golf said: "We are delighted to be working with Golf Club Network. Online video is the new marketing medium to promote golf clubs and resorts online, so it fits in perfectly with Golf Club Network's ethos of striving to deliver the next best thing to its golfing clients."

How can video benefit your club?

- Create a hole by hole guide
- Showcase your club and all of the facilities it has to offer
- Create interviews with your professional or club secretary
